

Dr. SPYRIDOULA ARATHYMOU, was born in Greece. She graduated from the School of Archival Science, Librarianship and Museum Studies of Ionian University in Greece (1999). She has a PhD in Cultural Informatics from University of the Aegean, School of Social Sciences, faculty of Cultural Informatics (2009). Her PhD title is: “The Greek Historical Industrial Archives: Recording, Electronic Documentation and Promotion”. She is member of ICA and member of the Bureau of SBL. She carries out a three year (2012-2015) research program, funded by EU entitled: “The documentation of cultural information as vehicle for regional sustainable development. The case of olive culture”. Her host institution is the University of Peloponnese, School of Humanities in Greece.