

Dr. MAGDALENA MAROSZ, a graduate in history at Jagiellonian University (1987), specialising in archival theory. In December 1985 she started working in the State Archive in Krakow at the department of the City Files of Krakow. Since 1995 – the deputy director of the State Archive in Krakow, responsible for the conservation and reprography of archival materials as well as for rendering for use and lending the files. Since October 1998 – the head of the Department of the City Files of Krakow. Since 2000 – a member, delegated by the Head Office of the State Archives, of the International Institute of Archival Science in Triest and Maribor. In 2001-2002 she was a corresponding member of the section dealing with artistic and literary archives of the International Archival Council (ICA). From 2002 to 2008 she was the chairperson of the Central Methodical Commission at the Head Director of the State Archives. Since 2006 she has been the director of the State Archive in Krakow. She has been conducting classes in sciences auxiliary to history and in archival science at the Papal University in Krakow and lectures from archival theory and methodology at the University of Pedagogy in Krakow.